Winemakers' Perspective

For the 2019 vintage, our Rosé was made by whole-cluster pressing 100% Rockpile Zinfandel. This practice produces lightly colored and delicate wines. The Rosé juice is fermented entirely in stainless steel and has not gone through malolactic fermentation, preserving the bright, fresh, natural malic acid in the grapes.

This Rockpile Rosé has a beautiful delicate copper rose pink color. Enticing aromas of candied wild strawberry, wet stone, and hints of crushed dried chamomile blossom. Bone dry and bright, flavors of minerality give way to hints of dried rose petal. Enjoy this wine over the next 12-18 months with lighter fare or while enjoying a picnic with family and friends!
